Seeking To Save Captured American

(International News Service)

HENDAYE, France, Sept. 2.—Efforts were under way today to arrange an exchange of prisoners whereby Harold E. Dahl, 28-year-old American airman from Champaign, Ill., may escape death at the hands of an insurgent Spanish firing squad.

Dahl was captured by insurgents on the Madrid front in July when his Spanish government plane was shot down. Subsequently he was sentenced to death by court martial.

According to reports received here, United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers is negotiating to exchange Dahl for an insurgent flier held prisoner by Loyalist authorities.

Advices indicated the rebel authorities might be willing to exchange Dahl as a gesture of good-will toward the United States, but that outcome of the negotiations rested chiefly on the decision reached by Loyalist authorities.

Bowers was said to have reported fully on the situation to the state department in Washington.

Snag Struck In Building Of New Hillsville Road

Highway Department Wants Lawrence County To Pay For $18,000 Bridge

WANT GUARANTEE FOR UNDERPASS ROADS

Building Of Proposed Ship Canal Up Mahoning River Figures In Plans

County commissioners were considerably disconcerted this morning by a letter received from J. E. Burke, division engineer of the state highway department at Pittsburgh, relative to the building of the new Edenburg-Hillsville road

It was expected that there would be comparatively little expense to Lawrence county in the building of this road, but the plans and letter indicate that the county is expected to build an overhead bridge at a cost of approximately $18,000, and to provide two underpasses for limestone cars in case the proposed ship canal is constructed in the Mahoning river.

The land through which the proposed new road would pass is owned by the Carbon Limestone company, the Union Limestone company and the Pittsburgh Limestone company. With reference to the Carbon Limestone company the letter says that the company is willing to donate the land if the county will provide an underpass road for their limestone cars under the present township road to the Mahoning river in case the proposed canal is built. The company, however, is willing to waive the actual building of the underpass, provided the county guarantees to build it in case the canal is constructed.

The Pittsburgh Limestone company also wants an underpass road to the Mahoning river in case the canal is constructed, but will be willing to take a guarantee from the county in lieu of actual building, deferred to such a time as the canal may be built.

Asks Bridge.

The Pittsburgh company also wants a concrete re-inforced bridge over the tracks belonging to the Union Limestone company. The estimated cost of this bridge is given at $18,000. While the Carbon and Pittsburgh Limestone company are willing to give the right of way for a road, subject to the above provisions, the attitude of the Union Limestone company, regarding the right of way is not definitely known, but it is presumed that the necessary land would be donated.

The requests for the two underpasses, or the guaranteeing of such

Japan Asserts Neutral Ships To Be Searched

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—New and fresh fears over American involvement in the Sino-Japanese crisis were aroused in official quarters here today by the announcement by Japanese Foreign Minister Hirota that Japan proposes to judge for herself the peacefulness of neutral shipping in Chinese waters.

"It is not desired," said Hirota, "that ships of third parties should carry articles of war to China for specific usage against Japan."

Officials here read into the statement that Japan proposes to arrogate to herself the right of stop and search, and also of determination as to what constitutes "articles of war."

The Japanese statement assumed particular importance in view of the fact the American steamer Wichita is now enroute to China and includes in her cargo a shipment of twenty Bellanca planes.

Grocers' Annual Outing At Cascade Wednesday Is Notable Success

One of the biggest crowds of the season gathered at Cascade Park, Wednesday, for the ninth annual outing of the Lawrence County Retail Grocers and Food Dealers association. The occasion was easily one of New Castle's leading summer events.

Shortly afternoon, the large crowd started to assemble for the outing. By 2 o'clock, the midway and grove were thronged. Throughout the afternoon the several thousand persons enjoyed the splendid program prepared by J. W. Rupert, general chairman, and his committees.

The gathering once again proved that the Lawrence County grocers" outing is "aces" with them. As hosts, the merchants were perfect. Everything moved in clocklike fashion. The weather was ideal and the program was exceptionally good. Despite the throng, no accidents were reported.

J. W. Rupert and the remainder of the committees were well pleased with the outcome.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Outraged by the depredations of "phantom submarines", Great Britain today decided to reinforce her naval forces in the Mediterranean.

The decision was reached at an emergency cabinet meeting.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Spurring an outraged Britain to drastic new measures against the "phantom" submarine flotilla which has been harassing neutral shipping in the Mediterranean, the sinking of a British tanker by a mysterious submersible off Columbretes in the Balearics was disclosed here today.

Tax Delinquents Rounded Up

Federal Men In Campaign

Drive To Enforce Social Security Act Nets Big Results

MANY PENALTIES REPORTED PAID

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Between 75,000 and 100,000 tax delinquents were rounded-up during the past six weeks by federal revenue agents as part of an intensive campaign to enforce the Social Security Act.

This was revealed today by the treasury which estimated the government has been enriched by many thousands of dollars from penalty payments assessed against the violators.

Many employers subject to the Social Security program purposely withheld payment of taxes pending a ruling by the supreme court on constitutionality of the old age benefits and unemployment insurance provisions. After the court upheld the program, a majority of the recalcitrants submitted returns and voluntarily paid the five per cent per month penalty for tardiness.

Small Penalties

In a large number of other cases, however, the internal revenue bureau sent out its agents to enforce payment.

For the most part, the penalties imposed on delinquents were small amounts. Virtually all of the nation's large corporations and business firms have complied with the act since its inception.

Treasury officials reported the round-up brought the total number of returns filed under the old-age pension program to 1,760,000. It is estimated that by the end of the year this number will increase to 2,000,000.

Since January 1, employers of eight or more workers have been required to pay a one per cent payroll tax for old age benefits. The government also assesses a one per cent tax for unemployment insurance although employers are given a 90 per cent tax credit against the levy if it is paid to a state unemployment fund.

special session of congress to force an immediate end of the eastern refining monopoly. Aides of the president said no final decision had been reached but intimated strongly November might see congress back to work.

Many Important Actions .

Signing of the so-called sugar bill was only one of many important executive functions Mr. Roosevelt undertook prior to the fishing trip. He determined, in consultation with Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, that no more American warships should be sent into the trouble zone of the undeclared war between China and Japan. In a lengthy conference with Robert W. Bingham, ambassador to London, he canvassed mutual problems this country and England have in the far east.

Finally, the executive disposed of the last of the 175 bills congress dumped on his lap just before adjournment.

On Yacht Trip.

The yacht Potomac was due to weigh anchor from Poughkeepsie late this afternoon. Accompanying the president on his fishing jaunt will be son and secretary James Roosevelt, Captain Paul Bastedo and Col. Edwin M. Watson, the naval and military aides, and Captain Ross McIntire, White House physician.

Convoyed by the new destroyer Selfridge, the Roosevelt yacht will cruise down the Hudson. into the North river, around the Battery, up the East river and out of Hell Gate in the general direction of Block Island. The party will return here next Tuesday morning.

Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre left Poughkeepsie last night for a brief vacation in North Carolina, turning over the reins to James Roosevelt.

by the county, provided the canal is built, and the requested erection of an overhead bridge by the county, are entirely new elements in the case, so far as the county is concerned.

The county commissioners do not see why Lawrence county should be asked to pay $18,000 for an overhead bridge on a state highway. All that the county was expecting to have to pay was damages for land taken, and according to representations which have been made, this would be small, since the limestone companies are to donate the principal part of the land.

The letter to the county commissioners asks for a prompt acceptance of the plans and stipulations, but the county commissioners are not going to be in any hurry about it until further conferences can be had with the state highway department. They believe that the department should take care of bridges on state highways.

With reference to underpass bridges down to the Mahoning river in case a canal is built, it may be that some arrangement can be made, since the building of the proposed canal is highly problematical, and the county might never be asked to do anything.

The county commissioners will take the matter up with the highway department at once in an effort to get some modifications of the requirements.

Methodists Have Annual Outing

District Gathering Takes Place At Greenville Park On Wednesday

Despite intermittent showers of rain the Methodist Day outing held in Riverside Park Wednesday afternoon and evening, September 1, was a success. The crowd was larger than it had been in several years, the sports program attracted a crowd of competitors and the speaking program in the evening was well attended.

The Italian M. E. softball team of New Castle took top honors of the day, defeating all competitors with ease. The baseball game between the preachers and the laymen was played, but the score will always be a secret, the adding machine breaking down in the third inning.

In the evening Dr. William H. Crawford, the "grand old man" of Methodism in this district, delivered the address of the day. Speaking on "The Challenge of the Impossible," he urged the youth of the day to accept the challenge and go forward to accomplishments that their elders have considered impossible.

Dr. W. A. Womer of New Castle was the general chairman of the day and was gratified with the turnout. The picnic supper in the grove of Riverside Park saw a lot of baskets of food emptied and at the conclusion of the day the Methodists present talked of next year's affair, confident that it will be even better than this year's.

In the past he said truck drivers were given extra time for taking care of their trucks and that more recently the helpers wanted the same privilege which he said meant considerable extra hours.

James Cooper, spokesmen for the men said they sometimes worked more than 10 hours and did not receive extra pay but acknowledged that on other occasions they worked less than 10 hours and received 10 hours pay.

He said that more recently the men did not get in 10 hours work and their pay decreased because they were paid by the city only for the actual time worked.

It is probable that the situation will be clarified this afternoon according to reports.

SHOWER OF GIFTS IN GAY PARASOL

Daintily decorated with frilly crepe paper, in two shades of pink and white, a large parasol, further decked with a bouquet of gay flowers and ribbon on the handle, held beautiful gifts Wednesday evening for Miss Jean Parker, September bride-elect, when Marguerite Mullen entertained at a shower in her home on East Morton street.

Leading the guests to the dining room for luncheon, Miss Parker was surprised to see the table so attractively decorated for her, the tilted umbrella forming the centerpiece. All kinds of summer flowers were about the house to make a summery setting for the occasion.

Pink and white tones predominated in the tasty menu served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. B. H. Mullen. Sharing as a guest from out of town was Martha Randles of Chicago, formerly of this city.

Bridge at three tables provided earlier diversion for the girls, the high score prize going to Emily Parker, and the traveling favor to Peggy Griffiths.

Miss Parker is being feted extensively before her wedding which will take place Saturday, September 18, to Louis B. Smith of this city.

"Little Birls told" the interesting news at luncheon time, when favors were found to be miniature pastel colored birds holding tiny cards with the inscription. These were mounted on candy fruit. Pastel colors were used throughout in table adornments, flowers and tapers blending.

The group played bridge at three tables in the early evening, and following the luncheon announcement, the bride-to-be was presented with a shower of gifts. Miss Kathleen Shuttleworth won the card favor. Miss Margaret Teets, of Ellwood City was an out of town guest.

Several hundred people witnessed the exchange of vows before Dr. Crawford Coulter, an uncle of the bride, who used the impressive ring service. He was assisted by Dr. George Atwell, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Washington.

Ushers were Dean Pollock and Edgar Beal, of this city, Edward Clark, of Beaver Falls, and Joseph Sullivan, of Washington.

It was a lacey wedding as far as the principals were concerned, the bride and her attendant and mothers of both the bride and groom choosing gowns of filmy lace in different shades.

The bride's dress was white lace, with long train and in her hair was a garland of valley lilies. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and smilax. The matron of honor wore pink lace, with a bouquet of sunburst roses and maiden hair fern; the bride's mother, peach lace, with a corsage of gardenias, and the groom's mother, blue lace, with gardenias.

Beautiful nuptial music was played before and during the ceremony by the church organist. After their marriage, the young couple received informally, in the church parlors, about 90 guests being present.

They left in the evening for a motor trip through the Shenandoah Valley, the bride wearing for travel, a gold color ensemble with harmonizing accessories. Upon completion of their trip, they will live in Morrisville, Pa., where Rev. Pollock is pastor the First Presbyterian church, his first charge.

ALL ROADS ARE TEST TUBES

THE intensive study of practical auto speeds and comparative road accidents which for twelve months will be made on a 100-mile "Test Tube Highway" in Central Pennsylvania may evolve useful road-engineering data. At least it will focus public attention, for the moment, on the road factor of auto mishaps.

The section chosen for the intensive study is U. S. 230 from Harrisburg to Lancaster; U. S. 30 to York; Pennsylvania 74 to Dillsburg, and U. S. 15 to Harrisburg. This road serves a representative terrain, goes through typical communities, symbolizes fairly motoring conditions throughout the East. It varies in width, paving, modernity and safety features; it embraces the average proportion of curves and hills. The Governor's Highway Safety Council, fostering the project, expects actual traffic counts, wrecks at certain places, speeds and road laws to offer important figures in this year-long checking process.

Highway accidents are increasingly a pressing problem. It is easy on a state-wide or even nation-wide scale to check mishaps at certain spots and on certain types of roadways, to gain much more authoritative data than possible on a 100-mile stretch. However, if this limited-scale count leads to constructive action it will justify itself.

Meanwhile, it must be remembered that roads are only part of the accident problem; dependable autos are one, and dependable drivers are another.

SPIRIT OF PROGRESS

In possession of both the west-bound and the east-bound records for trans-Atlantic steamship voyage (both of which now stand at less than four days), the French liner Normandie is bound to be a source of worry for those aeronautical pioneers who have been looking forward to the establishment of commercially practicable air routes between America and Europe.

The dangers of flying over the vast expanse, when linked with the diminishing time-saving factor, are certain to prefer the comparative safety of ocean travel.

But even though the Normandie's spectacular accomplishments are promptly duplicated or surpassed by other major vessels, the airways will continue to be viewed as attractive potentialities. That is the spirit of progress—the same spirit that inspired Columbus in days of old.

THE TREK TO SCHOOL

To the fresh viewpoint the opening day of the school term is an epoch, not merely the repetition of an annual occurrence as it is to those who are through school.

But schools are not for oldsters anyway; they are getting their post-graduate work in the school of hard knocks, and are wishing their education was less advanced. The purpose of schools is to make of the young more intelligent animals than their parents turned out to be, and also to help them to have a good time intelligently and with the least damage to society.

The old bromide about reluctant little feet turning schoolward at the end of summer may have had some basis in truth when it was first launched generations ago, but it cannot be applied today. Kids, and those emerging from the kid age, like to go to school now, and may they have a fine time while getting an education.

P. S. The U. S. still has the best schools in the world.

WAR IS NO GAY ADVENTURE

Continued tension in Spain, the Mediterranean and more recently in the Orient has caused young Britons to shun the army and, by the same token, has led London to take additional steps to swell the peacetime forces without conscription. Recently the enlistment maximum was raised from seven to twenty-one years, permitting retirement of soldiers on a $35 a week pension thereafter. It was hoped thus to make military life more attractive as a career. As another step, the maximum age limit for first enlistments in combatant units has just been raised from 25 to 28 years, the first such move since 1881.

Just a few weeks ago radical changes were announced, providing better food and more post privileges for Tommy Atkins, also a snappier uniform for his "walking out" excursions with admiring maidens. These had a flurry of effect, but enlistments still lag. The army is around 362,000 at home and abroad, including the air corps, 25,000 short of normal and the smallest armed force of the five major European Powers. A few days ago two reservist sections, numbering 89,000 men, were asked if they would like to be summoned for active duty in a "partial mobilization."

Considering that twenty-nine principal European nations are maintaining 6,000,000 men in full-time armed forces, and spending almost $20,000 a minute on armament, including maintenance of 21,000 fighting planes and 12,000 tanks and armored cars, Great Britain's eagerness to rationalize her army without coercion is easily understood, even without the grave possibilities in China. Yet it is only when war is a dimly remote thing that a soldier's life is glamorous. All the fighting going on is ugly, sordid, appalling. Tommy Atkins is frankly uninterested.

A man is only as old as his wife's temperament.

You can tell the morons. They think something rotten is great stuff because a famous guy did it.

Maybe it's a coincidence, but one in each five lives on the government and one in each five has a car.

If you think we are out of the jungle, please observe the faces of those watching a man slip on a banana peel.

Some people believe they have reached the pinnacle of success when a race horse or a cigar is named after them.

Why advertise peace in America? America is like the fighter who said: "Help hold the other fellow; one man can hold me."

Yet some sweet day, when people understand, they will rise in rage and tear apart any man who tries to get them into a war.

Spain seems to prove that the theory of amateur strategists and tacticians that a modern war cannot last more than forty-eight hours is not quite sound.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BOOKS AID STUDIES

UNFORTUNATELY, not nearly all parents can afford to provide all the reference materials and equipment their child should have at home in order to do his best in the modern school. But thousands of parents who do not make such provisions for their children easily could if they sensed the value to these children—if these parents really cared.

Many parents, indeed, could well afford to economize in other directions in order to provide the necessary tools for their children's best education.

There are several good magazines suited to children even before they enter school and up through the elementary grades. They are particularly good to stimulate the child to want to read and get practice at reading. Usually more interesting and more highly illustrated than the average reading test book, these children's magazines do much to make reading attractive to the young child. Besides, they encourage creative drawing, painting and construction by the child; with pencil, crayon, paints, paper, cardboard, cloth and wood. They nicely fit into the activity program of the modern school.

Parents need an encyclopedia to enable them to answer the questions of the young child as soon as he begins speech. After the child begins to read he likes to use a good children's encyclopedia for browsing. Beyond the third or fourth grade, the child in the modern school needs constantly to refer to an encyclopedia. There are available a number of very good ones, peculiarly adapted to the child's interest and vocabulary. Good public libraries have them.

Work With Children

Parents who cannot afford to own an encyclopedia for their children should take the trouble to go with the young children to the library to use an encyclopedia there, with the hope that these children later will use the encyclopedias of the library freely.

Every school child should have a school edition dictionary. By the time he enters the seventh grade he will need an unabridged edition.

A typewriter is valuable equipment, even for the child entering school; almost or entirely a necessity as he enters junior or senior high school. How a college student can get along without a typewriter is hard to understand.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

"HE WASN'T HIMSELF"

WILD WITH jealousy and more than a little whiskey, a man made a terrific scene. . . . Assaulted his friends who attempted to restrain him. Broke dishes. Smashed furniture. Cursed and wept and acted like a mad man.

And there were tolerant ones who said of him, in apology, "You see, the poor fellow wasn't himself."

He was ashamed and humble and apologized to everyone in sight. Wept and put ashes on his head and ate humble pie and wished he'd never been born. And agreed with his forgiving friends and said "That's true, I wasn't myself."

Well, I can't help being thankful that this is how human beings think and feel and believe and talk.

We do that because we believe that when we misbehave, when we are selfish and cruel and thoughtless, we are not really OURSELVES. We have someone else that has temporarily taken possession of this physical shell, some usurper, some dictator, some savage that knows no better.

When we are kind and thoughtful, when we are unselfish and brave, when we sacrifice ourselves for the sake of some other human being, when we love generously and long, when we hide our hurts and beat down our pride—nobody says, then, that we are not ourselves.

Then we are given the credit of being the individual who was meant to inhabit this body that others know and love. . . . That is the true you, the real me. That is ourselves!

And I am glad this is so. Life would be intolerable if we were ringed about with men and women who expected the worst of us always and assumed that when we act badly we are our true selves and when we act decently we are hypocrites who conceal our vices for some mean motive.

This is not always true, we must admit. Because sometimes we do show our basic selves when we lose control of ourselves and sometimes our fairest conduct IS hypocritical. But usually when a man is himself, he is the man we love best.

Dear Hints and Dints: I received the attached from a friend up north who, being learned in the law, probably knows what he's talking about. In any case, as I have enjoyed much which I have seen in your column, I'm sending this on. It may be suitable for publication. I may add I got a lot of amusement out of it.—Robert Alexander.

Here goes Mr. Alexander's contribution:

"I had 12 bottles of whisky in my cellar and my wife told me to empty the contents of each bottle down the sink, or else. So I said I would and proceeded with the task.

"I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which I drank. I extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I then withdrew the cork from the third bottle and poured the whisky down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank.

"I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass, which I drank.

"I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it and threw the rest down the glass; I pulled the sink out of the next glass and poured the cork from the bottle. Then I corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour.

"When I had everything emptied I steadied the house with one hand, counted the bottles, corks, glasses and sinks with the other, which were 29 and, as the house came by, I counted them again, and finally had all the houses, bottles and corks and glasses and sinks counted except one house and one bottle which I drank."

DEAR MISS MARKEL—Have you any ideas for a practical floor covering for my children's play room? Their paints and modeling clay ruin both the rug and the painted floor.

Answer—Children should have some haven where they may "be themselves" without constantly considering the devastating effects of their activities.

For this purpose, linoleum will be your most practical choice, since all stains may be washed therefrom.

Linoleum comes in a number of attractive designs and colors and may, when not in hard use, be covered with small scatter rugs. Washable wallpaper and painted furniture that may be easily refinished will save both you and the children from worrying over the consequences of their play period.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—The wall on one side of my living room is very long, being unbroken by windows or doors. Is there any trick whereby I might hide this too-long appearance?—Housewife.

Answer—Break it up with pieces of furniture, mirrors and, if possible, paneled divisions.

Place your davenport along this your longest wall, a picture over it, a console table and mirror at one end of the davenport and an easy chair in catercorner position at the other end.

Constitution Stirs Controversy. Never Completely Agreed Upon. Enacted Behind Closed Doors.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION always has been a controversial matter — since the beginning. There was no complete agreement on it in the making — and there has been none since. Any written constitution of course, has to be subjected to fresh interpretations in order to keep step with the times. Inevitably one side believes the interpretation does not go far enough; the other, that it goes too far.

This year we celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution — Sept. 17. One of the best pictures of the scene at the constitutional convention in Philadelphia is given by Professor Charles A. Beard and Mary R. Beard in "The Rise Of American Civilization".

"Among the many historic assemblies which have wrought revolutions in the affairs of mankind, it seems safe to say that there never has been one that commanded more political talent, practical experience, and sound substance than the Philadelphia convention of 1787," says Professor Beard.

"In all, 62 delegates were formally appointed by the states; 55 attended the sessions with more or less regularity; and 39 signed the final draft of the new constitution."

WHAT TYPE OF MEN?

"On the list," Professor Beard continues, "were men trained in war and diplomacy, skilled in legislation and administration, versed in finance and commerce, and learned in the political philosophy of their own earlier times.

"Seven had been governors of states and at least 28 had served in the congress of the union either during the revolution or under the Articles of Confederation. Eight had been signers of the Declaration of Independence.

"At the head stood Washington, who, with one voice, was chosen president of the convention. Among those who sat with him were such men as the two Monrises, the two Pinchneys, Madison, Hamilton, Franklin, Rutledge, Gerry, Ellsworth, Wilson, Randolph, Wythe, Dickinson and Sherman, nearly all of whom represented the conservative wing of the old revolutionary party."

Thus, the conservatives were in power and shaped the constitution.

"NO RADICALS PRESENT"

". . . None of the fiery radicals of 1774 was present," Professor Beard goes on.

"Jefferson (afterwards twice president), then serving as the American minister in Paris, was out of the country; Patrick Henry was elected, but refused to attend because, he said, he 'smelt a rat'; Samuel Adams was not chosen; Thomas Paine left for Europe that very year to exhibit an iron bridge which he had designed and to wage war on tyranny across the sea.

"So the Philadelphia assembly, instead of being composed of left-wing theorists, was made up of practical men of affairs — holders of state and continental bonds, money lenders, merchants, lawyers and speculators in the public land—who could speak with knowledge and feeling about the disabilities they had suffered under the Articles of the Confederation.

"More than half the delegates in attendance were either investors or speculators in the public securities which were to be buoyed up by the new constitution. All knew by experience the relation of property to government."

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

"When the convention assembled late in May, 1787, there arose at once the question whether the proceedings should be thrown open to the general public or be held behind closed doors," Professor Beard adds.

"The body was small, oratory was

REGULATE NOT OPERATE

The use of electricity today is almost twenty-five times what it was thirty-five years ago, according to W. C. Mullendore, executive vice-president of the Southern California Edison Company. Its cost is only one-third what it was then. This remarkable reduction of cost has been achieved in spite of the fact that operating expenses of almost all kinds have risen, and the industry's tax bill is ninety-four times as great as it was in 1902.

Cold figures cannot adequately tell what this remarkable record of service means to the American people. Expressed in human terms, it means that where only a small proportion of homes enjoyed the blessings of electric power at the beginning of the century, more than eighty per cent of all homes have electricity today. It means that we can use power to operate radios, refrigerators, stoves and other labor-saving equipment for less than we used to pay for lighting alone. It means that the average family's electric bill is actually less than its tobacco bill, and a great deal less than its theater and amusement bill. It means that hundreds of thousands of farmers have been provided with power that performs swiftly, efficiently and cheaply, tasks of back-breaking severity.

Private capital started the electric industry. Private initiative and energy developed it. Vision foresaw its magnificent potentialities. In other lands, where electric developments have been dominated by government, progress has been nowhere near as great. There the dampening hand of politics has deprived their peoples of electricity's maximum aids to a happier, more comfortable life.

We are still in the beginning of the electric age. If we make sure that the utility industry is left in the hands of private individuals, under suitable state regulation, and is kept free from politics and bureaucracy, the future will bring wonders now undreamed of.

THE DICTIONARY ON LAUGHTER

LAUGHTER—A series of spasmodics expulsions of breath with jerky sounds, accompanied by movements of the facial muscles, provoked by mirthful feelings.—Standard Dictionary.

That's what the dictionary gives
As laughter's definition;
Precise, correct and circumspect
And graced with erudition.
That is the scientific fact
Concerning mortals' merriest act,
But through its solemn paragraphs
The dictionary never laughs.

It never once forgets itself
Its purpose or its duty.
It stays a slave to conduct grave,
'Tis even cold to beauty.
It never laughs or jokes or sings,
But sticks to sombre, serious things
And through its pages never run
The slightest trace of mirth or fun.

From what the dictionary tells
Of good old honest laughter
You'd never guess 'twill cure distress
And shake both wall and rafter.
Not knowing laughter's meaning, who
Would read that definition through
Would find no hint that would disclose
That it's a cure for human woes.

The dictionary's so sedate
In all its paragraphing
It fears to state men cease to hate
The instant they start laughing.
'Tis satisfied when it has told
What laughter is in language cold,
And that it drives all care away
The dictionary wouldn't say.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2

Once Upon September 2nd—A 39-year-old red-haired woman, Cleopatra, changed the history of the western world, September 2, 31 B. C. But for her we today would be different people.

The Roman fleet of Octavian Caesar, and the Roman and Egyptian fleet of Marc Antony and Cleopatra met in battle near the Mediterranean town of Actium, Greece. Upon the result depended Antony's hopes of recreating the vanished world empire of Egypt with himself and Cleopatra on the throne, and Octavian Caesar's design of disposing of his only important rival.

Each side had about 200 ships and the contest was even and in doubt until Cleopatra, for apparently no reason, suddenly ordered her 60 ships toward Egypt. Antony might still have won, but alarmed by his mistress' abrupt act, he followed her in a swift galley, leaving his fleet to be overwhelmed by Octavian, and causing Rome to become the leader of civilization and the controlling influence in modern culture.

This, one of the greatest blunders in history, is still one of the most mysterious.

On Other September 2nds—1539—Juan Pablos arrived in Vera Cruz, Mexico, with the first printing equipment to be setup on this continent. With it he published 116 books on religion, medicine, laws, arithmetic, history, songs and languages before Jamestown and Plymouth were founded.

1666—Great fire of London began. Burning of 13,200 buildings resulted in formation of first fire insurance company, and that in turn led to organization of first paid fire department.

1775—First warship was commissioned in the service of the United Colonies—the schooner Hannah, commanded by Capt. Nicholas

Motor Police Plan Safety

Large Scale Safety Campaign Is Program Over Week End

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept 2—The Pennsylvania Motor Police today neared completion of plans for a large-scale safety campaign—on the highways and in the air—over Labor Day week end.

"The mobilization for saftey covers the entire state," declared Commissioner Percy W. Foote, "every mayor in the state has been requested to assist in any way possible in their cities. Motor Clubs and motor truckers associations have requested their members to cooperate in every way possible to reduce accident hazards on the highways during this heavy traffic period.

The Motor Police plan to use airplanes in observing traffic conditions to locate unusually heavy congestion. This information, Foote said, will be relayed by short wave radio to ground stations, while commercial radio stations have expressed willingness to relay the data on traffic to auto radios of highway travellers.

evidently out of place, and none of the members was especially eager to appeal to the gallery.

"So, without much argument, the members resolved that the proceedings of the convention should be secret and were not permitted to give out in any form any information respecting its deliberations . . . In their anxiety for security the delegates took every precaution against publicity. They even had a discreet colleague accompany the aged Franklin to his convivial dinners with a view to checkingg that amiable gentleman whenever, in unguarded moments, he threatened to divulge secrets of state.

"If a few members, particularly John Madison (afterwards president), had not made notes of the speeches delivered in the convention, posterity would never have discovered the real spirit that animated the discussions. And it was not until more than half a century later —after Madison, the last surviving member, had died and his private papers were published — that Americans got a clear insight into the proceedings of the great assembly that had drafted their revered constitution."

More concerning the constitution tomorrow.

An increase of more than one hundred and twenty teachers enrolled at the State Teachers College for the 1937 summer session over the summer enrollment of 1936.

A study of the graduates of the teacher education institutions for the year 1937 indicates that greater emphasis is now being given to the social studies since the subject most frequently appears as an elective and the number of graduates choosing the electives appears in the following frequency: Social studies 258; Science, 256; Mathematics, 171; Geography 103.

The midget was born to Mr. Umstead's three year old fox terrier, Nellie. It might have gone unnoticed if 7 year old Betty Jane Umstead hadn't found it.

Biggest Crooks Have Steady Eye

Metropolitan Detectives Smiles At Appelation Of "Shifty-Eyed" Crook

POLITENESS IS DISAPPEARING

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. — Every trained New York detective and those wise to the deceits of Broadway smile at the figure so often described by writers as "a shifty-eyed crook." There is a general belief that the guilty cannot look one in the eye. The bigger the crook the steadier his gaze, as a rule.

O. O. McINTYRE

Long ago Charles Dickens expressed a truth with: "There is a mistaken belief about bad men being unable to look you in the face. Don't trust the idea. Dishonesty will stare honesty out of countenance any day in the week if there is anything to be gained by it."

Some of the shyest and gentlest men I have ever known, men who have a lifetime of honesty and purpose and ideals behind them, are unable to look squarely into the eyes of their most intimate friends. I knew a banker whose gaze was frank and open. He was indicted and missed prison by an eye-lash.

Maeterlinck confessed he could not look his own mother squarely in the eye. Along Broadway the boys who slap you on the back so heartily can not only look you directly in the eye but can, if they so desire, lift you wallet while doing so.

Don Marquis lies propped up in bed at Forest Hills looking out at the trees. His convalescence has been tedious but steadily he improves. He likes company but can say only a few words. Someone asked him if he thought up poems as he lay there, imprisoned, but he looked sad and the visitor wished he hadn't. His sister has made marionettes of the characters of his famous poem, Noah Jonah and Captain John Smith.

Every club still has in its membership one or two of that rarity, a gentleman of the old school, so called. Urbanity, politeness, affability and courtesy are amenitie. disappearing from social life. The late Vivian Burnett, reputedly the original of his mother's famous novel, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," had such manners. His contacts were made with smiles and cheerfulness, his face was always lighted up. I doubt if any of his fellows ever caught him in an ill humor. His was the humor without barb and his personality had charm. He had eternal youth and his death, trying to save others on a yacht, was noble. A truly gentle soul.

Dick Simon, of the publishing firm, is such an authority on amateur photography he is publishing a book on the subject. He is also cheer leader of an amateur crowd of photogs. On a recent stunt excursion of celebrites, Life lent Dick a $500 camera. He took about 50 candid shots. When he turned in the camera for developing, they found he had put in all the films back-side-to—and he didn't get a picture.

Reflection: My rule eating out is that if there's anything on the bill of fare that I've never eaten before, I try it for pure gastronomic experience and education. But in years of experimenting I've never found anything so satisfactory as the dishes I loved when a boy—fried mush, thin cut round steaks, deep dish apple pie with thick cream, etc. All talk of taste in eating is bosh. We are made so that we love the things that in youth gave us greates pelasure and thrill and all the King's stewards and cooks cannot awaken those emotions. To speak of any place where you get the best anything is sheer nonsense. Taste is relative. Most people are allergic to what they like best.

Thimgumbobs: Max Schmeling thinks no cinema clown comparable to Chaplin . . Efram Zimbalist is always seated at the James Huneker table at Luchow's . . . Theodore Dreiser is abandoning his Westchester estate for Washington Square.

Ode of an insomniac:

Oh, Sherman Billingsley, your monicker
Could not be nobler or euphonicker
Its mouthful splendor has a quality
Too lush for merely Stork Club jollity;
Oh, Sherman Billingsley, I see you larger—
Looming, a major general on a charger.

Crop Conditions In State Reported

Rain Has Helped Some Crops And Handicapped Some Others

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2—Nature's gifts were distributed over Pennsylvania recently with diverse effects, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today in its weekly synopsis of crop and weather conditions, for this state.

Heavy rains, which saturated the soil in the central and eastern sections of the commonwealth accomplished much good and did some damage, weather forecaster George S. Bliss reported.

"The greatest damage seems to have been to the tomato crop," read the government report. "A small portion of the oats crops remained in shock, and was badly damaged. The continued dampness also caused considerable rust in tobacco.

"Corn has continued to make good developments in nearly all regions. Early fields are dented and ripening. Plowing continues and has become more general. Some ground is being harrowed.

"Peaches are generally in good yield and quality in the chief peach-growing regions, such as Bedford, Berks and Lehigh counties, but in some regions there was a shortage of moisture, which has resulted in fruit that is small and bitter.

"The apple crop also varies greatly, but averages good. Buckwheat is good. The recent rains should insure good fall feed of all kinds, and most crops should mature well even though the September rains should be less than normal."

USE GOOD PAINT ON PORCH FLOOR

There is no surface which has to take more traffic and take it with a smile, than porch floors. Whenever you are ready to repaint these floors, give them the protection of a good, exterior floor paint.

When strawflowers are half open they should be cut at once, as, if you wait, they will fall apart when dry. In order that they will dry with straight stems, tie them in loose bunches and hang them with their tops downward in a dry, preferably dark, room or attic. Then the flowers will hold color, as well as shape.

Van Dyke announced a district traffic engineer will be assigned in each of the department's 12 districts, and said the new department would supplant the highway planning division, financed by the federal government, to be abolished when funds are exhausted, probably next July.

Interior Work Goes Forward At Library

Interior work on the city's new Free Public library, East North and Mercer streets, is progressing.

Today found the renovizing operations at a standstill, but Works Progress Administration officers pointed out that such a condition always means that the skilled workers on the job have completed their alloted time schedule.

Library officials some time ago expressed the hope that the new building might be occupied in November.

When you picnic, clear up after you have finished. Put out fire, burn or bury all rubbish. Someone else may want to use the spot later on.

GIVES HIS IDEAS

The New Castle News,
27 N. Mercer Street,
New Castle, Pa.
Gentlemen:

The State Legislature but lately decreed that all traffic control lights first placed after September first of this year no longer be of the over-head type, in an attempt to make their placement uniform, whereupon we witness this city hurriedly installing several lights of just this type. There was time not to place them in operation but to merely hang them. And they must be replaced before January 1, 1940 (Motor Code Sec. 1110, (d) and (g). What a mockery of the law!

Obedience makes government. Our city officials should recognize this and apply it to themselves, else how can they expect public observance of law?

The city is essentially but a minor branch of the state government. Well might we quote the couplet, "What is a law if those who make it Become the forwardest to break it?"

Such inherent disobedience is as much to be regretted as the placing, in 1933, of that expensive but forgotten stone building in now disused and out-of-the-way Gunton Park, or the contemplated placing of "parking meters" in the Seventh Ward where a true parking problem does not exist.

Very truly yours,
KENNETH M. M'LURE,
First National Bank Bldg.,
New Castle, Penna.

"What's the shape of the earth?" asked the teacher, calling suddenly on Wee Wullie.

"Round," said Wee Wullie.

"How do you know it's round?" asked the teacher.

Well," says Wullie, "it's square then; I dinna want ony argument aboot it."

May Not Require Congress Approval On Waterway Plan

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 2.—Contrary to a recent report, the proposed waterway from Lake Erie to the Ohio River does not have to be submitted to congress for approval, Colonel W. E. R. Covell, head of the district office of the United States Army Engineers here, said today.

"In a very extraordinary move, congress, a few years ago, approved the project subject to the approval of the board of engineers for rivers and harbors," Covell explained.

"Consequently, if the board approves it, then it will become an approved project and the budget bureau can put money in for it. As far as I can see, there is no necessity for it to go to congress, unless for the actual appropriation of money."

The proposed $170,000,000 canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio river via the Beaver Mahoning route has been a highly controversial project in this district for the past 20 years, Covell said.

Last July 17 Colonel Covell prepared an exhaustive and voluminous report with engineering and technical details and submitted it to his immediate chief in Cincinnati, from where it will ultimately be sent to headquarters in Washington.

Though the report is not ready for publication, it was understood it dealt with conflicting testimony on the water supply and geological structures of the land through which the waterway would pass.

Covell said the full report on the canal should reach the board in a few weeks. Upon the action taken on this report hangs the fate of another canal project to Struthers via the Beaver and Mahoning rivers. Under the terms of the 1935 rivers and harbors act this canal was authorized contingent upon a favorable report on the through waterway along that route.

If the recommendations on the through waterway to Lake Erie are adverse, it would bar the 1935 authorization, according to Covell. In that event, the battle to secure approval of the Beaver-Mahoning $37,000,000 canal would have to be reopened, it was explained.

The entire Lake Erie canal will consume some 10 years for complete construction, Covell estimated, in the event it should be approved.

County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland says that a great many hunters are coming to his office for hunting licenses for 1937, but he has not yet received any. The state department seems to be late in sending them out. Usually they are here by this time. As soon as they arrive Treasurer Hartland will make the fact known.

August may be a pretty hot month in which to get married, but 131 couples who applied to Prothonotary John A. Edgar did not seem to think so. The number issued was within four of the licenses granted in July when 135 licenses were granted. A majority of the licenses were granted to parties residing outside the county, the principal business being from Ohio.

County commissioners have received a bill for $1,136.63 for keeping prisoners at the Western penitentiary during the month of July. There are 52 prisoners at present from Lawrence county. It costs the county a trifle over 72 cents per day for each prisoner. Heading the list is the name of John Seevers, who is serving a life sentence for murder. Seevers shot his wife, Stella Seevers, and his sister-in-law, Catherine Rodgers, during a quarrel on the Youngstown road near the airport.

Temple Boyd, of Union township, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, administrator in the estate of the late Charles P. Shaw, of North Mill street. Boyd claims of the estate $2,184 for services rendered to Shaw previous and during his last illness. Plaintiff says that after the death of George P. Shaw, the only remaining member of the family was Charles P. Shaw. He says that he and Shaw had always been good friends, and that Shaw engaged him to burn or destroy certain furniture, books, desks and other furniture in the Mill street home. The arrangement was an oral agreement made on October 1, 1929, and continued until April 3, 1936. It was agreed that the furniture could not be burned about the place but would have to be hauled away. Boyd says he was to get an hourly wage and expenses. The bill for this and certain other work about the premises is $601 and $31.80 for gasoline, making $632.80 in all. Boyd also agreed to do other work around the Shaw premises, such as sweeping the sidewalks and general utility work at the rate of $21.60 a month. He put in 67 months for which he asks $1,447.20. Shaw died at the Boyd home on September 6, 1936, and there is a bill for $104 services during Shaw's illness, making a total of $2,184.

Letters testamentary in the estate of the late Thomas C. McCullough of Wampum, have been issued by Register and Recorder William A. Hanna to William H. McCullough. Letters in the estate of Margaret M. McKee, late of this city, have been issued to Robert B. Jamison.

New York now has a three-day marriage license law, the same as Pennsylvania, which is calculated to keep the Pennsylvania marriage license business at home. Ohio also has a "waiting" law, but Lawrence county still gets considerable business from the Buckeye State.

An amicable scire facias to revive a judgment of $150 has been filed at the prothonotary's office in the case of Steve M. Zehel against Joseph and Nellie Ododzmski.

County Commissioner Floyd Cotton, who was recently taken to his home in Shenango township, following an operation at the Jameson Memorial hospital, is reported to be getting along nicely.

Rumor Mine No. 5 Has Been Leased

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Sept. 2—Rumors that a Grove City coal operator had leased Mine No. 5 of the Sharon Coal and Limestone Co., in Springfield Township are given credence here. It is understood that the mine closed last week, will be re-opened within a month as a "wagon" mine, supplying coal to local consumers and to purchasers who will truck the coal to distant markets.

At one time, Mine No. 5 gave employment to 500 men, many living here. In recent months, the force had been gradually reduced. The shutdown by the Sharon Coal and Limestone Co., a subsidiary of United States Steel, does not mean that the company is abandoning its property. Many of the "company" houses are being wired for electricity, which means that the houses will be occupied by company employees who work at No. 2 Mine, and the Pennsy Mine, nearby. In addition to its houses, the company has a large and modern brick store building which is the equal of many city stores.

NEUTRALITY ACT MAY BE INVOKED AGAINST JAPAN

weeks, the president has refrained from taking action because the war is "unofficial". Neither Japan nor China have declared war, nor have they broken off diplomatic relations.

The two oriental powers combined are Uncle Sam's third largest customer.

Whether President Roosevelt will be forced to declare a state of war exists between the two nations, thus invoking the neutrality act, today appeared chiefly to be up to Japan.

If Japan carries out her threat of extending the "peaceful blockade" against Chinese shipping to include interference with American and other foreign commercial steamers, the die will be cast, the official disclosed.

Would Be Act Of War.

Seizure of an American steamer or its cargo, or a vessel of any neutral power, would constitute an act of war which would force presidential action, international legal experts declared.

The right to include neutral shipping in a blockade is extended only to recognized belligerents under international law.

Although Japan has not been declared a belligerent, her blockade of the China coast has been okayed by the powers so long as foreign shipping is not affected.

Fears were aroused in administration circles that Japan might seize the American steamer Wichita, now enroute to China with a cargo of airplanes.

Seizure of the ship or its cargo, or even preemption of the cargo, would be an act of war which would blast the Sino-Japanese conflict out of its unofficial status.

New Highlights.

The neutrality question was thrust in the forefront as a series of new developments increased the gravity of the far eastern crisis. Highlights of these were:

1. President Roosevelt upheld Secretary of State Hull's orders for American shipping to continue to keep out of China waters in the Shanghai danger zone . This action followed a clash of opinion between Hull and Secretary of Commerce Roper, who declared there was no further danger.

2. President Roosevelt, after a conference with Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, decided against sending further naval re-enforcements to China at this time, but four heavy cruisers took on ammunition, fuel and other supplies at San Diego and stood by for orders.

3. Grave alarm was aroused here over public health service reports of a major epidemic of cholera raging at Hong Kong, and outbreak of the dreaded black plague in the international settlement at Shanghai.

4. China's supreme war lord, General Chiang Kai-Shek added his personal apology to the formal apology made by the Nanking government over the bombing attack on the American Dollar liner President Hoover.

Drastic steps were ordered to halt spread of the cholera epidemic to the United States and its Pacific possessions.

DISCLOSE BRITISH TANKER IS SUNK BY SUBMARINE

than one submersible was engaged in the predatory raids that have aroused Britain to fury.

The Havock was attacked on Tuesday night while on patrol duty off Valencia. A torpedo was fired point-blank at her hull but missed and, in accordance with previous instructions from the admiraly, five depth bombs were dropped at the spot where she was last seen.

Members of the crew of the Havock said the destroyer zig zagged when they saw the torpedo approaching and immediately dropped depth bombs. Oil rose to the surface indicating the submarine had been hit.

Wish It Were True

Public jubilation of these reports from Gilbraltar was dampened when the admiralty announced they did not correspond with officially known facts.

"We only wish it were true" a spokesman said. "But our definite information is that although depth charges were dropped, the vessel was not located and must be presumed to have escaped. The attack on the Woodford seems to bear out this belief."

The Woodford, enroute from Barcelona to Valencia, was attacked at 7 a. m. yesterday. Two torpedoes were fired at her and at least one struck. The tanker sank at 10 a. m. the crew taking to the boats and reaching Benicarlo, Spain.

At the time of this attack, the cruiser Galatea, four British destroyers and one French warship were patrolling the waters outside Valencia harbor. The Galatea and other British warship had rushed to the scene when the Havock was attacked, sweeping a radius from ten to 15 miles off the Spanish coast in their search for the submarine.

In addition to throwing cold water on the Giraltar reports the admiralty flatly denied street-corner rumors that naval leave in British ports had been cancelled and that the home fleet was preparing to sail for the Mediterranean. The rumors also said naval reservists had been ordered to stand by.

"These rumors" the spokesman said, "are preposterously untrue."

Meanwhile, the cabinet resumed its emergency session to deal with the situation after a brief recess. Foreign Secretary, Anthony Eden arranged to receive the French charge D'Affaires this evening to discuss the French proposals for an armed patrol of all neutral vessels in the Mediterranean.

Eden also plans to see the American, German and Italian ambassadors regarding the Mediterranean and far eastern crises.

CRESCENT AVENUE PUBLIC THOROUGHFARE

During council meeting at the city hall today colleagues passed an ordinance introduced by Councilman J. Myron Rice which locates, ordains and establishes Crescent avenue, between Shaw street and Shaw street, as a public thoroughfare.

CHINESE TROOPS TEMPORARILY HALT JAPAN'S 'BIG PUSH'

ese troops in several sectors stood firm against Japanese attacks and in other areas even carried the battle to the invaders.

Only in one sector could the Japanese claim a major victory as the threatened drive to sweep Shanghai clean of its defenders began after days of preparation. But even here the Chinese did not admit defeat

The Japanese, however, announced officially their troops had occupied the Lion forest and forts along the China coast, 10 miles north of Woosung, which Japanese captured two days ago

Chinese Press Attack

Undaunted, the Chinese vigorously pressed their counter-attack against Japanse positions at Woosung.

Heavy fighting raged around Liuho and Chinese troops also launched another counter-attack against Japanese positions near Lotien.

In the latter sector the Japanese offered fierce resistance, bombing the Chinese forces from the air.

Bitter fighting was reported on the Lotien front.

A Japanese spokesman admitted yesterday's claims that Nipponese troops had captured Paoshan, north west of Woosung were "premature."

He said Japanese vanguards had reached the outskirts of Paoshan, and that a large Chinese force there was completely cut off.

He claimed Japanese forces had filled a dangerous gap in their battle line running from Lotien to Woosung.

Land More Troops

Five Japanese transports and one supply ship arrived at the Japanese wharves along the eastern edge of the international settlement, landing additional troops and war materials during the night under cover of darkness.

Hostilities broke out afresh following lull of a few hours during night. Chinese guns roared from their positions in the Pootung area while Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river shelled heavily

American marines, blue-jackets and civilians mounted hastily buttressed barricades of the international settlement against a threatened invasion which might result from launching of the Shanghai conflicts greatest offensive.

United States warships stood ready to evacuate all 2,000 American civilians from the war zone as the Anglo-American district of the international concession appeared likely to become a battle field.

Six divisions of Japanese troops marched from the north and northwest against 15 Chinese divisions. Foreign military officials feared retreating Chinese might storm the settlement in the face of this advance.

Jap Air Force

Meanwhile, the Japanese air forces appeared to have the upper hand from Canton in the South to Tientsin, Peiping and Nankow in the north—an area embracing some 2,000 miles.

The Japanese planes are carrying out constant raids over this vast territory in line with official Nipponese statements that the war will be extended to all parts of China, with all Chinese airports and other military establishments slated for bombing.

In the Woosung area, Chinese forces opened a fierce counter-attack against Japanese troops which captured the Woosung forts, village and railway station. Chinese officials denied Japanese claims that Paoshan, northwest of Woosung, also had been captured.

Bitter resentment among foreigners arose as the Japanese landed troops in the Yangtzepoo section of the international settlement. Foreign shipping was warned away from Japanese warships in the Yangtze estuary and Whangpoo river on grounds they might be "bombed" by Chinese war planes."

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Republicans Play Possum

Are Letting Democrats Do All Talking Prior To 1938 Political Campaign

HOPE PRESIDENT TOURS COUNTRY

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—There is more political talk today, in connection with the 1938 congressional campaign, than, in all probability, ever was current before so far in advance of a coming election.

What is still more peculiar is the fact that Democrats are doing almost all of it.

The Republicans have let out a few faint chirps. Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., has given his party a certain amount of quite forcibly-expressed advice. Former President Hoover has issued a statement which attracted little attention. G. O. P. National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton also has issued a statement which fell pretty flat.

But, in the main, thus far, the fight seems very little like an inter-party fight. It is more like an intra-Democratic party fight.

G. O. P. TACTICS?

I take the Republicans' comparative silence to be tacitly agreed on policy, on the part of the G. O. P.'s best minds.

It appears to be their theory that the Democratic factions will chew one another up most effectively with no Republicans trying to break in and do a share of the chewing. At the last minute I assume that they will take the stump with the argument:

"All the ugly things that might be said about the Democrats we Republicans haven't said. It was not necessary. The Democrats were saying them, quite truthfully, about each other."

* * *

"WE INDORSE BOTH—"

Then they'll quote the anti-New Deal Democrats against the New Dealers and the New Dealers against the "antis", adding:

"We indorse both sets of utterances."

Moral:

"Vote for us."

* * *

G. O. P. HOPES FOR TRIP

They are simply dying to have President Roosevelt make a tour of the country in the New Deal's behalf.

If he does so they reckon that it will have the appearance of a New Deal campaign of reprisals against Democratic anti-New Deal candidates. Even if the president doesn't definitely declare against them, it will look that way.

The Republicans recall that President Wilson made such an attempt in the midst of his second term, with the result that he got a Republican congress.

Perhaps it will not work so this time, but the Republicans are hopeful.

It is a new line of strategy. It remains to be seen how well it will work. The Republicans have not much choice, however. If this will not work, seemingly nothing will.

GAINS, BUT NOT VICTORY

Of course Republicanism cannot win outright in November, 1938.

If it wins every senate contest (which it cannot conceivably do) it still will be in a senatorial minority. Theoretically it can gain a majority in the house of representatives, but that, also, is unimaginable.

Still, it can make big gains. It will make SOME gains almost certainly—but what it needs is to make them wholesale, to save it, as a party.

If it does, it will have 1940 prospects.

If not, it is on its last legs.

G. O. P. LACKS LEADER

The Republicans' weakness is that they haven't a national leader.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan is their best offering of one. He is a good senator, but not a promising generalissimo. Nobody else suggests himself.

But this does not mean that the Republicans may not gain a substantial number of seats in the 76th congress.

If they do, they may throw a bad crimp into Rooseveltianism.

That is their objective.

Well, let the Democrats fight it out, between 'em.

Plans For Y. M. C. A. Season Being Shaped

Officers Here Going To State Leaders' Confab At Chambersburg

With the coming of September 1, Y. M. C. A. officials here announced today that full preparations for the fall-winter-spring activities are going forward. Activities director Henry T. MacNicholas plans to announce plans for the coming season within a short while.

He said today that regular school Hi-Y activities will get under way the week of September 13.

General Secretary R. L. Meermans, Mr. MacNicholas and John Thompson, boys' department aide, will go to Chambersburg next week for the annual Pennsylvania Employed Officers' conference of the Y. M. C. A. They will be there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 6, 7 and 8.

AROUND CITY HALL

Action of Mayor Charles E. McGrath in creating a double turn for operation of the police motorcycle implies only one thing: a desire that speeding and reckless operation of automobiles and motorcycles be eliminated. During the past several weeks the police have received many complaints of speeding especially in the North Hill and Croton sections. In addition to speeding, motorcyclists were alleged to have retarded the sparks, which caused annoyance to residents. The mayor yesterday named John Wincek to the force and he with Sigler will alternate riding the motorcycle in an effort to bring some of the erring to book.

Relative to the Grant street storm sewer council may soon take action to alleviate the conditions that follow each storm. Whenever a heavy rain falls water rushes down State street, overflowing Grant and Sampson streets. The storm sewer cannot carry off the water owing to the mouth of the sewer being so low dirt washed down by the Shenango river closes the outlet. It would not be surprising were the sewer reconstructed. Some of the council believe this would be a far better plan than to remove the dirt along the edge of the Shenango river. However, should the sewer for a distance near the P. R. R. tracks not be reconstructed it is probable the dirt will be removed from near the outlet. This may alleviate the condition for some time to come.

Thomas C. Moore, superintendent of the New Castle Street Railway company has not yet definitely decided what will be done with street car operations in Walnut street following the reconstruction of a sanitary sewer in and resurfacing of Crawford avenue. In answer to a question as to whether the company would abandon its Walnut street line after completion of the Crawford avenue proposed improvement he replied that it might be best to wait until the work was done before an answer was given. It is not likely the Walnut street line will be abandoned unless the city resurfaces the cartway. It is possible that this will not occur until next spring or summer.

New traffic lights have been installed at several intersections here. However, none of them are working as yet owing to the non-arrival of parts. It may be several weeks before the lights start operating, according to City Electrician Rex Hughes. He added that the lights may be kept operating for two years following which time all lights must be placed on corners because of a recent act by the state legislature. Had the lights now erected here not been installed prior to September 1, it would have been necessary for the city to install them on corners instead of overhead in the center of thoroughfares.

Within a few days two new police cars will be placed in operation, it having been indicated late yesterday by Mayor Charles E. McGrath that he would, as one of the committee, recommend the trading in of the two cars now used by the police plus $500.00, for the new Ford sedans. The city is acting economically in turning in the cars. They have had the use of two cars for 16 months and only have to pay $500.00, for the new cars. The present cars have outlived their usefulness as police conveyances.

BUTLER TWINS BORN IN DIFFERENT MONTHS

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 2—Twins they may be but the newly-born daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dean Anderson of 711½ New Castle street, will have their birthdays in different months.

Plan For Local Count Of Unemployed Persons

Postmaster To Direct Project

Voluntary Registration Of Jobless Is Planned By Action Of Congress

COMPLETE PLANS TO BE REVEALED

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 2 Within the next few months Postmaster R. A. Steen of New Castle will be called upon to make a count of the unemployed in the district served by the post office.

President Roosevelt this week signed a bill authorizing a voluntary system of registering the jobless. Congress passed the measure after the president had announced his opposition to an unemployment census by the census bureau. It was estimated this would cost $4,000,000.

Voluntary Registration.

Under the bill as finally enacted by congress and approved by the president, the post office department will conduct a voluntary registration of those without work who want jobs. It is believed this can be accomplished without additions to the regular postal personnel. Exact details remain to be worked out.

According to the general plan, however, Postmaster Steen will supervise the count in the New Castle postal district. Mechanics will be set up whereby those without work and those partially employed may register. They will not, however, be forced to do so unless they wish. It will merely be pointed out that voluntary registration will aid the administration in perfecting plans to give everybody a job.

Headquarters of the registration will be at the New Castle post office, with rural letter carriers likely cooperating by collecting names in the farm areas. The first registration is to be completed by next April and may be conducted every 90 days thereafter if successful.

Cleveland Boys And Girls Return From Nazi Visit

Fifty-Four Back From Visit To Germany During Summer

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Fifty-four school boys and girls who had spent six weeks in Germany arrived back in New York on Wednesday, some of them proudly exhibiting metal swastikas, symbol of Nazism.

The children, all from Cleveland, lived in homes of school children of their own age in Berlin. Their visit was Germany's repayment for a similar visit of 100 German children to Cleveland last May.

Asked if the children, who are of high school age, had been indoctrinated with Nazism, Mrs. Elsie Gerstenberger, head of the group, said:

"We tried to keep politics out of this visit."

The party arrived aboard the liner St. Louis, which docked with 823 passengers.

No sooner had the ship put in than Dr. Henry M. Friedman, public health officer, who discovered typhoid on the liner Hansa last week, ordered that the entire crew be held aboard pending a thorough examination.

The U. S. government can construct 4,000 fast bombing planes for $40,000,000—the cost of one dreadnaught.

Ask Farmers To Fill Out Forms

Information Requested Of Those Participating In Conservation Program

The county office of the Lawrence County Agricultural Conservation Association has just mailed to all farmers in the county who are participating in the 1937 program of the association a letter requesting information as to when the farmers will have completed their various farm practices.

In referring to this letter today, Harry L. McCurley, chairman of the county association, said that it will aid materially in economically administering the program in the county if the participating farmers will promptly notify the county office as to whether they have completed such practices.

After receiving such information from the farmer, Chairman McCurley said, as soon as possible the county committee will send a supervisor to assist the farmer in completing his performance report and making out his application for payment.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawke, however, have spent their 55 years of married life continuously in Grove City, a distinction not claimed by the others.

HEARING ON DISMISSAL

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 2.—A second case under the new Teachers Tenure Act was heard before Judge George H. Rowley on Tuesday, an appeal of William Ganaposki from action taken by the Farrell school board in dismissing him.

A Safety Tip FOR YOUR Labor Day Trip

Here's why FIRESTONE STANDARD TIRES GIVE YOU MORE FOR YOUR MONEY

DON'T take chances on your Labor Day trip. Protect yourself and family by equipping your car with a set of new first-quality Firestone Standard Tires. Firestone builds extra quality and extra safety into these tires and sells them at lower prices because Firestone controls rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, manufactures with greater efficiency and distributes at lower cost.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord because every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping Process. This counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES — because there are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING — because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra-tough, long-wearing tread.

You need all of these features to make your car tire-safe on your Labor Day trip. Firestone gives them to you at lower cost. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires — today's top tire value.

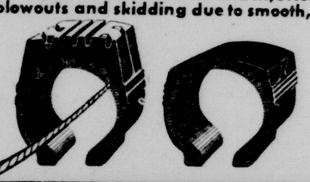
DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON SMOOTH WORN TIRES!
DO YOU KNOW
THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children?
THAT a million more were injured?
THAT more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires?



Right is section cut from a new Firestone Tire. Note the thick, non-skid protection against skidding, blowouts and punctures. Come in and see a demonstration.

Left is a section cut from a smooth, worn tire, with non-skid protection worn off. Tires in this condition are liable to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

Tough Schedule Faces High Team

Intensive Drills For Grid Candidates At Muddy Creek Falls

WILL PLAY ELEVEN GAMES THIS SEASON

One of the toughest grid schedules in the football history of New Castle high faces the squad of 1937 Red Hurricane lads who are drilling amid the beauty of Muddy Creek Falls, this week.

Since the opening of camp, Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has sent his pigskin catchers through an intensive series of drills. After two drills a day, the squad is more than glad to duck under the covers at close of day.

With only five veterans from last year's machine, Bridenbaugh has a huge task ahead of him. Most of this year's material is green. Despite their inexperience, the young men show promise of developing into valuable material. The Junior high schools have turned out several unusually good looking prospects. Quite a number of new faces will be seen roaming around Taggart stadium soon.

Within the next three or four days, most of the first string material will be made known. After breaking camp, Saturday noon, the remainder of the workouts prior to the opening battle will take place at Taggart stadium.

Schedule Tough

This year's card is easily one of the most difficult in years. New Castle fans will have an opportunity of seeing 11 of the hardest foes in the district. September 10, Har-Brack high appears here at Taggart Stadium for the initial night-game.

A week later, Coach Heinzer and his Butler high gridders play here. Youngstown East makes an appearance for the third "floodlight" tussle. October 1, New Castle travels to Beaver Falls to oppose a bitter rival—Beaver Falls high. Washington high, always one of the feature battles, plays here in a night game on October 8, after which Martins Ferry high is booked for a Taggart Stadium day battle on October 16. Warren (Ohio) high is the seventh foe with Taggart stadium as the battle ground, on October 22, in a night game.

Probably one of the hardest battles comes on October 29, New Castle playing Massillon, at Massillon. Hammond comes here for a day game, November 6. Midland follows on November 13, at Taggart Stadium. After a week's rest, New Castle closes the season meeting Sharon high here, November 25. If this isn't as pretentious a schedule as you have ever seen, we would like to see one that is.

After looking at the crop of foes that will face the 1937 New Castle machine, one can readily see why Coach Bridenbaugh and his assistants are a worried group of mentors. Despite everything, this year's team is expected to live up to the usual standard.

Louis Will Not Fight Again For Several Months

Examination Fails To Show Break In Joe's Right Hand

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Sept. 2.—Despite the fact X-ray examinations failed to show a break in Joe Louis' right hand, the world's heavyweight fighter today said he will not fight again for several months.

The announcement meant that the proposed fall fight with former Champion Max Schmeling, only man to beat Louis in a professional fight, is off.

Louis said he wanted his hands in perfect condition before he tackled the German Schmeling again.

Louis injured his hand Monday night in taking a 15-round decision over Tommy Farr, rugged English challenger.

Examination of the injured hand showed the muscles and tendons around the knuckles were badly bruised.

Dr. Chester C. Ames said Louis will be unable to train for at least three weeks.

Giants Lead League Again

Terrymen Trip St. Louis Cards, 7-3, As Doddering Dodgers Top Cubs

PITTSBURGH DROPS SEVENTH STRAIGHT

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—If the Giants win the National league pennant this year they will owe a debt of gratitude to the less fashionable members of the baseball society—the Phillies, the Bees and the Dodgers.

The Cubs, Pirates and Cardinals started this last eastern swing now drawing to a close with high hopes of fattening their averages. They expected trouble from the Giants, of course, but they hoped to make headway against the three eastern outfits of the second division.

On previous trips the Phillies, Bees and Dodgers were satisfactorily equipped with round heels but this time the erstwhile pushovers had become roaring lions and the western clubs couldn't tame them.

The Phillies especially were rough on the western outfits, making life miserable for Charley Grimm, Frankie Frisch and Pie Traynor. Yesterday they again knocked off the Pirates, 5-3, when Earl Grace broke up the game with a homer to back up Claude Passeau's fine pitching.

The Giants took care of the Cards, 7-3, to move back into first place by Belting Warneke and Ryba for 16 hits, including Mel Ott's 29th homer. Schumacher was no ball of fire for the Giants but the Cards couldn't finish him.

The braves, with Fette operating, took the Reds 4 to 1, after the Reds, behind Derringer, had won the opener, 5-1.

And those doddering Dodgers took the Cubs, 6-4. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say the Cubs took themselves for their miscues gave the Dodgers not fewer than five unearned runs and spoiled some good pitching by Curt Davis.

With Denny Galehouse giving only seven hits, the Indians knocked off Kent Wicker, rookie southpaw, and the Yanks 4-2. The Yanks lost no ground because Wes Ferrell came to life with a five-hitter against the Tigers and the Senators won, 8 to 2, by hammering McLaughlin, Wade and Russell for 15 safeties.

The White Sox got in only six innings because of rain but that was long enough for them to boot away the game for Dietrich and give the Red Sox and Lefty Grove a 2 to 0 decision.

And, believe it or not, the Athletics vacated the cellar in favor of the Browns whom they knocked down, 5 to 2. Al Williams gets credit for this history making feat.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Mrs. Opal Hill, Kansas City veteran, registered a hole in one, an eagle and two birdies yesterday at Kansas City when she shot the par 78 for the Indian Hills golf course in 66. Her score, made as she defended her title in the Missouri women's golf meet, bettered women's record seven strokes and came within one of matching the competitive record for men, held jointly by Ky Laffoon, Bill Collins and Hank Decker. Men's par on the course is 70.

Joe Louis will take a several months rest according to reports from Detroit. The rest was recommended by physicians who studied X-ray pictures of the hands he injured in defending his title against Tommy Farr, Monday night in New York. No fracture was disclosed but the X-rays showed badly bruised muscles and tendons around the knuckles of the right hand and slightly less serious bruises on the left.

Frank R. Kelly of West Orange N. J., crashed into the throne room yesterday at Detroit when he won the 20-gauge crown in the third national skeet championship. He broke 25 straight targets in the shoot-off with Carl L. Schweinler, also of West Orange and 13 year old Jackie Horton of Edgewood, R. I., who won the junior title Tuesday with a score of 99 of 100 shots.

Herman Steiner of Los Angeles, suffered his first defeat yesterday in the American Chess federation's title tourney at Chicago. He lost his adjourned sixth round match with Harold Morton of Providence, R. I. after 63 moves. The defeat forced Steiner to share first place with Dave Polland of New York who won his sixth rounder last night.

College Stars Trim Green Bay

Professional Grid Champs Bow To College Stars, At Chicago, 6 To 0

84,000 FANS WATCH TUSSLE

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—For the first time in four years of competition, a college all-star football team today held a victory over the professional champions as a result of the surprising defeat here last night of the Green Bay Packers, 6 to 0, before 84,000 persons.

One play brought about the undoing of the Packers at Soldier field. It was a first quarter pass from Sammy Baugh ,Texas Christian, to Gaynell Tinsley of Louisiana State, hurled from the all-stars' 48-yard line. Tinsley caught the ball on the Packers' 32-yard stripe, eluded the secondary and sprinted for a touchdown. Sam Francis of Nebraska missed the extra point.

That was all the scoring. The collegians hardly could nick the big pro eleven thereafter, and the Packers, sluggish and far from appearing in their top form, did't have the decisive touchdown punch.

Although the all-stars carried away the game, the Packers had a big edge in the figures. The pros made 17 first downs against eight for all-stars, and gained 343 yards while the collegians were ripping off 185. Of this yardage, the Packers made 126 from scrimmage and 202 on passes as against 65 from scrimmage and 115 by passes on the part of the all-stars.

In previous games, the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions played ties with all-star teams while the Beas also whipped the collegians, 5 to 0.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILI BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Some of the more caustic critics of affairs cauliflower have taken pen in hand to call the Brown Bomber a bum again. The burden of the indictment is that Louis lost heart when he discovered that Tommy Farr was not a fellow who would be knocked out with a punch.

It is a little the song that was rendered when Louis couldn't knock out Bob Pastor. They called him dumb then. After that bout, which in truth was more of a footrace than a fight, it was written widely that Louis never would be a great fighter because he lost his head when confronted by the unusual.

But I prefer to credit the heroism of the Welsh invader, and to blame the absence of a kill on the fact that Louis still is just a young boxer learning as he goes along. I was among those who thought the Bomber would catch up with Farr in the first round. The fight was a lesson to lots of us besides Joe Louis. In a way it was the same kind of text Gene Tunney learned from the hands of Harry Greb when they first met. Tunney in subsequent fights showed Greb he had assimilated the rudiments of that first rough housing, and finally became too tough for the Pittsburgh Windmill. Louis was confronted with an awkward style when he boxed Farr, but to the young Negro's credit it must be said he picked up tricks as he went along. Joe found Farr very hard to tag with a right hand, so he pumped lefts into him in an amazing number.

There was not much else Louis could have done. If a fellow keeps his chin tucked in, hidden from a right hand, it goes without saying he must be attacked with the left. Louis did right well with that left, retaining his title with it. As Farr replied when asked to describe the most punishing punch Louis dealt "I don't know. He hit me with a sort of good many."

Explaining further, as seems necessary in view of the redness around this prognosticators ears, let's drag good old Johnny Risko out of the moth balls. Risko was not much of a fighter, according to the technicians, but he embarrassed everybody who picked him to lose. He had a style similar to Farr's in several respects. Risko used to make sporadic rushes upon his opponent in the fashion approved in barroom brawls. The Baker Boy didn't inflict murderous punishment during the course of these thrilling sallies, but they were great shows of fighting courage, and the fans ate it up.

Once or twice Farr hurt Louis. When the Bomber blinked after taking a punch he wasn't enjoying it. But he wasn't hurt seriously, either, and that was true of most of Farr's onslaughts, though the crowd stood up and roared. What captured the taxpayers primarily was Farr's show of bravery. The lad believes in himself. After almost having his brains knocked out in the eigth round, he came out in the ninth fighting as though nothing had happened, and it was all just a part of the bloody day, by George!

The chief difficulty that confronted Louis was the bobbing, weaving style of the Welshman. He ironed this out in approved fashion, with a flock of left hands. T' at was the way he had to win. He didn't look much like a killer doing it, but he won, and that's what he was in there for.

Injury to the Bomber's right hand early in the fight forced him to "box it out". That made for a dull fight, to be sure.

About Farr's punch—I don't think Louis ever was in danger. In that respect at least the experts didn't miss

Franklin Township Supervisors Agree To Sponsor Project

Road Supervisors Williing To Sponsor W. P. A. Sewerage Project

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 2.—Franklin township road supervisors, Russel Wright, Joseph Norton and Amos Koach, met with the Franklin township Citizen's league on Wednesday evening at the weekly meeting held in the Firemen's hall at Frisco. The meeting was attended by many interested residents of Knox, Frisco and North Sewickley.

The supervisors agreed to sponsor a sewage project for these three communities and a committee composed of Ernest Householder and T. H. Ter Linden, Sr., were appointed to meet with the supervisors next Tuesday evening to make arrangements for the districts the survey would include.

A. H. Grivel, W. P. A. engineer of Beaver county, attended the meeting and explained that a survey could be made by a W. P. A. white collar project and the supervisors and committee will formulate plans for this survey. The cost of a sewer system would range from 65 to 90 cents per front foot and would effect only the districts served.

A petition requesting the re-surfacing of the Frisco-North Sewickley road was presented to the league but no action concerning the request was made.

The league will meet again next Wednesday evening for the purpose of furthering the plans for the project.

Bell Memorial Pastor Resigns

Resignation Of Rev. John A. King Accepted By Congregation

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 2.—The pulpit of the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church was declared vacant and the resignation of the pastor, Rev. John A. King, accepted at an adjourned congregational meeting held on Wednesday evening at the church with a good percentage of members attending.

Rev. Greer Bingham of Wampum, moherator of Shenango presbytery, conducted the meeting. A pulpit committee of three, Clyde B. Houk, Harold Marshall and Mrs. Harry Lash, was appointed to secure supplies for the regular Sunday services. A number of the supplies are expected to be candidates for the pastorate.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mrs. Albert Keller, of Detroit, Mich., is a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Houk, of Clover avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blatchford, of Clover avenue, and Mrs. William Winnail, of Newport, spent Tuesday at the Great Lakes exposition.

The condition of Rev. Arnold Berg, who has been confined to his home at Riverview by illness for sometime, remains the same.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allison, of Columbus, O., has concluded a visit at the home of Wilfred Allison and family, of North Sewickley.

Mrs. L. M. Downing and Mrs. Wilbur Downing, of New Castle, were guests today at the home of the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Downing, of Ellport.

Little Bits Of This And That About Ellwood

An automobile that by its appearance dated back to the first models, running on its own power, and used for advertising purposes, caused considerable attratcion on the streets Wednesday morning.

Developing their own films is the very popular and profitable hobby of the local youths at the present time. A young fellow who was buying the neccessary equipment was irritably asked. "Is everyone doing this?" We have seen some very fine specimens developed by amateurs and it appears to be a most worthwhile pastime.

This column salutes Wilfred Alan Gibson! This popular local youth has achieved a notable and distinctive honor for himself and Ellwood City by winning third place in a national essay contest.

"The old swimming hole" came into its own again during the past few days of extreme heat. The Slippery Rock and Connoquenessing creeks have been thronged with bathers seeking relief from the heat. This is one summer that there has been very little swimming in this district. Much of the time the creeks were high and muddy caused by heavy rains and at other times, the air was much too cool.

Much re-surfacing work is being done on roads in this district this summer. At the present time, a portion of the Ellwood-New Brighton road is receiving a coat of hard surface materials by the state highway workers. Traffic has been rerouted over a two mile stretch of dirt road.

Trinity Church Plans Celebration

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 2.—On Friday evening, September 3, the members of the Trinity A. M. E. church and their pastor, Rev. J. H. Clark, will begin a series of programs celebrating the 21st anniversary of the church.

A most interesting program is planned and many of the pastors and congregations of nearby communities will participate. Rev. Samuel Baker will be the guest speaker for Friday's service and a program will be contributed by members of the Coaltown and Clifton Flats Missions. The service will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Local Grangers Attend Pomona

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 2. — A number of members of the Pleasant Hill grange attended the quarterly meeting of the Lawrence county pomona grange held on Wednesday at Williard grange hall.

Local people attending the various sessions were: Mr. and Mrs. John Boots, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boots, Mrs. Carrie Hazen, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Hazen, Mrs. Jane Friday, Mrs. Jesse Weingartner, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fox and son, Eugene, and Arthur Hazen.

Several members of the North Sewickley township grange attended the meeting, as the Beaver county pomona grange presented the evening's program.

Some 3,664 Pupils Attend First Day

Enrollment Shows Slight Decrease Over That Of Last Year It Is Revealed

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 2.—A total of 3,664 school pupils ended their summer play days on Wednesday when they returned to school for the opening of a new year. The roster of all school children in the city last year included 3,835 pupils and this year's first day enrollment shows a decrease, although there are some pupils, who for various reasons, will not start to school until after Labor Day.

The first enrollment report shows a drop of 50 in grades 1 to 6 and a decrease of 120 in grades 7 to 12. While for the past four or five years a decrease has been noted in the primary grades, this is the first year that there has been a decrease in the upper grades. Again next July it will be necessary for students to remain in school until they have attained the age of 17 years and the following year until they have reached the age of 18 years, unless they have graduated or received remunerative employment.

Calling for order were 110 teachers in the Ewing Park, Northside, Circle, West End, Hartman and junior and senior high school, ready to carry on the program of public education from primary classes to high school students.

Although the new program of legislation enacted by the 1937 session calls for numerous provisions for the improvement of health, it is only making compulsory the special health program that has been in effect in the Ellwood City schools for a number of years.

The only school system in this district that has an audiometer to examine the hearing of every school pupil is the Ellwood City district. This audiometer has been in use at the local schools for the past four years.

The reason for opening school the first of September was in order that the term might be completed before Decoration Day.

They will be gone for ten days and plan to visit other western points.

Wilfred A. Gibson Wins Third Place In National Entry

Local Boy Wins Third Place In Essay Contest Conducted By V. F. W. Auxiliaries

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 2.—Executives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary received official notice on Wednesday that Wilfred Alan Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gibson, of Wurtemburg Heights, had been awarded third place in the national V. F. W. essay contest.

This is the fourth time that the essay written by Alan has been chosen as a winner. He first won the contest conducted in the local high school; then the four county council eliminations; and was later chosen the winner of Pennsylvania state, and now had been named third in the final contests which includes entrants from every state in the Union and a number from Canada.

Throughout the contest, the local winner has competed with 100,000 other entrants, most of whom were older than Alan, who is fourteen years of age, and a student of the 10B class of the local high school.

The state officers and local auxiliary as well as the townspeople and friends are very pleased and proud, and rightfully so, that this distinctive honor has been achieved by a local boy.

The award for third place in the finals is $25 in cash and a gold medal. A special presentation program will be announced in the near future.

"Permanent Peace For America" was the subject of the contest.

Slippery Rock Ladies Aid Meets

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 2.—Assembling at the church on Wednesday, twelve members of the Ladies Aid society of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church held their monthly meeting.

Quilting was the occupation of the day and at noon an appetizing casserole dinner was served by Mrs. Harold McQuiston, Mrs. Allan Berger and Mrs. Ernest Loeffler.

Mrs. Thomas Berger conducted the opening devotional period and Mrs. Ella Shaffer, president, had charge of the business meeting. Plans were made to hold their annual supper on Wednesday, October 13 with Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. Reed Welhausen and Mrs. John Wilson comprising the general committee.

Wednesday, October 6, is the date of the next meeting to be held at the church.

West Pittsburg To Battle K. Pulaski

Tonight at Glasser's field, starting at 5:45 o'clock, West Pittsburg will battle the K. Pulaski nine. J. Soho or Schass will twirl for the Pulaskis while Tonsetic or Dombeck are slated to take the mound for the City Baseball league leaders.

It is not uncommon for lily bulbs which have to be imported from great distances to fail to bloom the first year. They are often greatly weakened by being out of the earth so long on their journey over the ocean, and therefore often require a year or so in the soil to regain their strength.

Heavy Selling In Market Today

Decline In Stocks Continues In Trading During Morning Session

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The stock market again encountered heavy selling today, leaders adding losses of 1 to more than 3 points to new lows on the current decline after yesterday's sharp reaction of 1 to more than 5.

Trading was at the heaviest pace in some time. Prices were lower at the start an a carry-over of Wednesday's heavy selling, but the list recovered partially soon after. This failed to hold, as fresh liquidation swept stocks to new lows on the downwards movement and in many cases to new lows for the year. Several individual issues tumbled as much as 7 points.

Groups which have been bearing the brunt of recent selling, including steels, motors, coppers, farm implements and rails, again were in the van of the sharp decline.

A long list of representative stocks reached new 1937 bottoms, including Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, N. Y. Central and Southern Pacific in the rails; American Car & Foundry and Pullman in the rail equipments; Union Carbide in the chemicals; Gimbel Bros. and Macy in the merchandising section; United Air Lines in the aviations; Mack Trucks and Servel.

U. S. Steel led steel shares lower, opening off 1⅜ on a block of 5,000 shares at 102⅞, recovering to 103½, then slumping under 102 for a net loss of well over 2 points. Bethlehem lost about as much, along with National Steel.

Chrysler was off close to 2 points in the motors. Case skidded 7 points, International Harvester more than 3 and Deere more than 2 in the farm implements.

Registration Is Light On Last Day

Only A Few Over Two Hundred Come To Registration Bureau Yesterday

Registration of county voters in boroughs and townships closed at the registration bureau at the Lawrence county court house last night at 9 o'clock.

Registrants on the last day did not come up to expectations, according to Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds. The total for Wednesday was only a little over two hundred, compared to over three hundred on Tuesday. The registrations after the regular closing hours were comparatively light.

The total number of electors who are eligible to vote are now on the books, with the exception of a few changes which are likely to be made in city precincts where voters have moved from one street to another, within the same precinct. Registration Clerk Edmunds is now tabulating the total vote of the county, with the names of those who have recently registered added. He will have the figures ready by tomorrow. There are still several thousand in the county who have not registered.

Mulching the newly moved perennials before frost with straw or rotted manure, leaving the crowns exposed, protects the plants against alternate freezing and thawing and consequent heaving. It also prevents the settling of water about the roots, which will have the same ill effect.

GROCERY ORDER REVEALS NAVY FOOD DEMANDS

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 2.—They call it "mess," but an advance grocery order sent here by the navy department for the fleet's visit later this month sounds more like a banquet.

The order will give you an idea of how the navy eats:

Six and a half tons of beef; nearly half a ton of lamb; a ton of pork loins; a ton of veal; a ton of ham; half a ton of bacon and a quarter ton of bologna. That's only part of the meat order.

The order also included:

Sixty-one tons of fresh vegetables; ten thousand loaves of bread; one thousand pies; nine tons of fruit and so on.

Also noticeable about the order was that it left out that grand (?) old army and navy fare—BEANS.

PHILADELPHIA NOT TO DELAY OPENING OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—Public health authorities today saw no cause for alarm in the increase in the number of cases of infantile paralysis reported here. Public schools will open on schedule.

"Despite the discover of 19 cases of the disease last month, fear of an outbreak is unwarranted," assured the spokesman for the department of public health. "This number is about normal for August."

Six cases were reported during the first seven months of 1937. Of the 25 cases reported to date, 12 could be traced to out-of-town sources, the department added.

Jonathan Swift not only mentioned the two moons of Mars long before they were discovered, but said, "The innermost is distant from the center of the primary planet exactly three of his diameters, and the outermost five," which was surprisingly accurate.

'Wooden Lung' Reaches Denver

Hope That Mechanism Will Aid Battle Of Girls Against Infantile Paralysis

RUSHED TO CITY BY FAST PLANE

(International News Service)

DENVER, Sept. 2.—An airplane outsped death here today.

A United Airlines transport landed at 4 a. m. (MST) with a "wooden lung" to aid in the battle against infantile paralysis being waged by two young girls.

On a fire truck, behind a motorcycle police escort with sirens screaming, the new respirator was rushed to the Steele Memorial hospital. There Shirley Krause, 2½ years old and Maybelle Outcault, 15, have been forced to take turns in the only mechanical respirator in the Rocky Mountain region.

After its delivery at the hospital, the "wooden lung" was put together by a crew of Denver firemen directed by Chief Frank Spillane. The work was done according to directions telephoned from a Toronto hospital yesterday.

George Outcault, father of Maybelle Outcault, one of the two girls who may be placed in the breathing machine, was a Denver fireman 25 years ago. He served under Spillane then a lieutenant.

A sturdier "iron lung" meanwhile neared Denver aboard the Burlington railroad's streamlined "Zephyr."

The wooden one, shipped from Toronto will be used, physicians said, in emergency until the other arrives later this morning. The "iron lung", sent by the Chicago American is more suitable to the treatment of paralyzed chest muscles of the girls.

Until the arrival of the respirator, doctors had feared they must eventually condemn one of the girls to die; that the time would come when it would prove impossible for one to give up her place in the "lung" to the other.

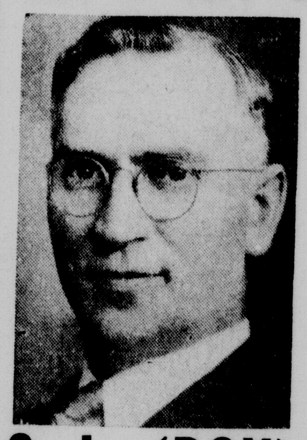
LET'S TRY EXPERIENCE



The Law stipulates the City Controller must be an accountant.

His job is to see that your money has been expended according to law and that bills are paid promptly.

Unless he is an accountant he cannot possibly serve efficiently.

Accounting has been my work for the past 25 years. I have little knowledge of the ancient languages, or of building houses; but, I do know accounting.

The City Controller is nothing more than an accountant's job. I am a candidate for the Republican nomination.
